Foreign News.

The steamer Atlantic, from Liverpool, arrived at New York this morning, bringing commercial and political news of interest. We regret to notice a decline inbread stuffs. See a satisfactory summary under our telegraphic head.

Congress To-day. SENATE .- After the presentation of petition and reports, Mr. RHETT gave notice that on to-morrow he would ask permission to reply to those parts of the speeches of Messrs. Cass and CLEMENS, on the Compromise resolution, which were personal allusions to him, (Mr. RHETT,) which speeches were made while he was absent from the city. The joint resolutions upon non-intervention were then taken up, and Mr. MILLER addressed the Senate in their support.

House of Representatives .- After the closing of the report of yesterday, the bill explanatory of the bounty-land law of September 28, 1850, was reported from the Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union; when

Mr. Goodenow moved to lay the bill upon the This morning the question was taken and de cided in the negative-yeas 80, nays 92. The House then voted on the several amend ments, which propose additional compensation to land receivers for locating military land warrants.

Stanley's Gallery of Indians.

and embrace a new class of bounties.

We enjoyed the high gratification yesterday of visiting, at the Smithsonian Institution, the beautiful and extensive collection of Indian Portraits and Scenes from the pencil of the gifted Stanley. We had anticipated a pleasant treat, and our expectations were more than realized. The exhibition is of a magnificent character. The portraits combine the highest excellence of artistic execution with great faithfulness of delineation. There are above one hundred portraits of the larger class, and perhaps fifty of minor proportions.

But these pictures are not alone interesting a objects of curiosity and admiration. They are eminently suggestive of the history, the characteristics, and the inevitable fate of the red man of the West.

We enjoyed the pleasure, also, of an interview with the artist himself. Mr. Stanley is yet young in years, though his experience in the rude scenes of the South and West has been most ample. Ten consecutive years of his life have been exclusively devoted to travels among the Indians and the prosecution of the great design he has now so nobly achieved. He showed to us the first painted picture in his series, and remarked, "If I had then known the extent of the task I had assumed, the adversity, the privations and the fatigues to which I was to be exposed, and the frequent despondencies that were to come over me, I should no longer have prosecuted the work upon which I had embarked." He wandered from scene to scene alone, after encountering not only the severest privations, but such perils as a man of feebler resolution would have shrunk from in terror. .

Mr. Stanley has brought his collection to the capital of the United States, to be witnessed by hundreds and thousands of those who are capable of forming a correct estimate of the faithfulness is no reason for shirking the contest, but rather of his delineation. As soon as he exhibited them in the Atlantic cities, he was earnestly entreated at once to convey them to Europe for exhibition or sale, where it was believed his fortunes would be at | Give us the Maine law! once established: but his labors had been lightened that at the national capital of his native country praise and honor would await him; and in this he anticipated a higher gratification than he could possibly derive from any other source.

We think he is about to realize the fulfilment of these hopes. His gallery is now daily crowded by multitudes of admiring spectators, and the praise of his works is on every tongue. We trust that none of our city readers will omit the privilege within their reach, but that they will visit this exhibition and participate in the pleasure we have so highly enjoyed. It is open free to all.

A Delightful Entertainment.

We learn from the "Intelligencer" that the ladies of the Rev. Mr. Eckard's congregation, on New York avenue, intend giving a supper at Carusi's on Friday and Saturday nights, for the purpose of aiding in the construction of a Sabbath school room for that meritorious little church. Some sixty or seventy children are taught there, and their numbers could soon be doubled. Mr. Carusi has very kindly, and without compensation, given up his lower room for the above named two evenings. Contributors may send their donations to Mrs. General Macomb, Mrs. Schoolcraft, Mrs. Gurley, and Z. D. Gilman.

What a delightful opportunity is here presented to all gentlemen who would be generous, and desire to pass a happy hour at a sumptuous festive board, in the company of their wives and daughters, and sweethearts. Such a repast, such an opportunity for the enjoyment of a social hour, and such caterers-Heaven bless them! Let them have the light of your smiles.

The Baltimore "Sun" of this morning publishes the long and anxiously looked for nominations of Gov. Lowe for the different State, county, and city offices, which were sent to the Senate of Maryland yesterday. The list occupies nearly four columns of the close print of that paper! We have great confidence in Gov. Lowe, but we would have still more in THE PEOPLE, and wish these officers were all elective.

Captain-General Concha.

The Spanish journals announce that General Concha has again resigned the post of Captain-General of Cuba, and that the government will accept his resignation.

The very rare signature of William Harvey, the discoverer of the circulation of the blood, was lately sold for £4. The name was attached to a bill of medicines for the household of Charles the First.

The Isthmus of Tehuantepec.

We are indebted, we know not to whom, for a well-printed and illustrated 8vo volume, and an accompanying volume of maps in illustration, relating to this isthmus. These volumes comprise "the results of a survey for a railroad to connect the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, made by the Scientific commission under the direction of Major J. G. Brainard, of the United States Engineers; with a resume of the geology, climate, local geography, productive industry, fauna and flora, of that region." The whole subject-matter has been arranged and prepared for the Tehuantepeo Railroad Company of New Orleans, by J. . Williams, principal assistant engineer. It is from the press of Appleton & Co., New York.

Mr. Williams has performed an important and ecceptable service in presenting to the public these "results," foreshadowing, as he truly says, an enterprise calculated to effect a great commercial revolution, and fraught with so many nutual benefits to the United States and to

The title we have quoted appears to reveal the whole purpose of the author; and we need only state, for the information of our readers, that, from the brief survey we have been enabled to make of the pages of his work, the evidences are apparent of the laborious, intelligent, and accurate manner in which he has performed it. The information is particular and clearly set forth, and every fact assumed is authentic, while the descriptions are highly satisfactory.

The highway across the isthmus is to become not only advantageous to the United States and Mexico, but it will prove the highway for the commerce and civilization of the world. A vast and mighty revolution is being effected by means of the extension of commerce through our continent to the Pacific ocean, and this isthmus enterprise is an important link in the great chain of events. The relative positions of the United States, Europe, and Asia are now changed, and facility of transit alone is demanded to crown our prosperity and glory.

P. T. Barnum on Temperance.

A letter from Hartford, Conn., shows that Mr. Barnum is redeeming his pledge to canvass Connecticut in suppport of the Maine law. He is speaking every day, and often twice a day, in exposition and defence of that vital measure of protection to public morals, social prosperity, and individual happiness. The "Tribune" remarks that they who say that he has some sinister view -that he is scheming to disorganize and defeat this or that party-know better. His sole, simple, plainly avowed object is the banishment of the liquor traffic, and, so far as possible, of all intoxicating beverages, from the soil of his own State. If this should damage his own party, he would doubly regret it-first, for the party's sake. and next, that it should be possible to damage the party of his choice by making men sober and banishing intemperance from the land. But his present warfare is with rum, and with no politial party whatever. He has not calculated whether it will help one party or the other, nor does he mean to. He is at work for the Maine law, and nothing else.

The fight will go on, the "Tribune" adds, until rum influence shall be banished from our politics and rum itself from the warehouses and storerooms of legalized and tolerated traffic. This may require two, five, ten years, or even more : it cannot require more than it shall freely have. The struggle may damage one party, or the other, or both; it will, we suppose, temporarily disorganize ours the most, since of the two parties the Whig is less docile to party drill, and more tenacious of moral considerations. That, however, for finishing it as soon as possible. If the repression of rum-drinking shall damage either party, it cannot do so too soon nor too fatally.

A Profitless Attempt at Robbery. At half past 11 o'clock last night some gentleman, believed to be white, entered the premises of Mr. J. W. Phillips, New York avenue, between 12th and 13th streets, and in his attempt to make his way through the dining-room knocked a table over. Thus admonished of the danger he was in. he made his escape, but without putting on his shoes, which he had probably taken off on entering the premises. These are a pair of coarse lowquarters, that have been recently half-soled. Does anybody know him? He can obtain his shoes by calling as above, or sending his next

We learn that Captain George Page has to-day tendered to the President of the United States, for himself and suite, the use of the new and beautiful steamer William Selden during the continuance of the steamship Baltic in the waters of the Potomac. We doubt not the President will ecept the courteous offer of Captain Page, and avail himself of so pleasant and convenient a means of access to the great steamship. The energy, public spirit, and accommodating disposition of Captain Page on this, as on many other occasions, are deserving of all praise.

The Adelphi Building—The Jackson Association.

We learn that the Democratic Association have taken the second story of the Adelphi, on the Avenue, west of 41 street, and will hold their election for President on Monday evening next. Many candidates are spoken of, Gen. McCalla and Mr. Hoover among them. 'It is also said that the Association intend having one of the best reading-rooms in the city.

A Beautiful Article for Housekeepers. A handsome iron safe at the office of the Bank of the Union is worthy the examination of every housekeeper who has plate or other valuables requiring special care. It is at once a strong and substantial article and a handsome piece of furniture. Many of the nightly depredations in this city could be prevented by the possession of such a place of deposite.

adds, "in saying, as the expression of an opinion which has all the force of a conviction, that this production of the great Secretary is to be regarded, taken as a whole, and in its beginning, middle, and end, as the ablest and best of all his efforts heretofore given to the public. It is not only of massive structure and colossal proportions, but it has grace and elegance and beauty to render to it their choicest adornment. We can catch from its inspiration, as Americans, as sons of the republic, the glow of a nobler patriotism than any which mere national vanity could inspire. The inheritors of antiquity, the hope of the present age, the guardians and trustees of the fortunes of uture generations—we, as a people, have a destiny and a duty assigned to us, in the order of Providence, such as no other people were ever called to, and which can find no parallel to its glory except in the awe which pertains to its responsibility."

Fires at Alexandria. The "Age" of this morning states that a fire occurred there last night, and that the Guano warehouse of Henry Dangerfield, esq., occupied by T. M. McCormick & Co., with its contents, valued at several thousand dollars, was entirely consumed. The flames, fanned by a high gale blowing at the time, extended to the back buildings of S. Tennison's Washington House; but, by the energy and activity of the gallant firemen, they were extinguished-not, however, without the total loss of the smoke-house and kitchen attached to the hotel.

ANOTHER .- " At midnight," says the "Age. we had another alarm of fire, and though it was quickly subdued, we stopped the press to ananounce it. It is but confirmatory of the fact that the fell spirit of incendiarism is in our midst."

Elecution.

Miss Davenport, who is announced to give ome select readings in this city, was of late highly honored in the city of Baltimore. She was impersonating the character of Charlotte Corday; and upon singing the "Marseilles Hym." was crowned with a beautiful wreath of flowers by a gentleman, who also presented her a bouquet of flowers, attached to a silver holder. As she received the present, two beautiful doves, connected by a ribbon, flew above and finally lit upon her arms. Elegant articles of jewelry were fastened around the neck of each little bird. This is the age!

Mr. Webster at New York. On Tuesday evening a splendid party was given o Mr. Webster, by his Honor Ambrose C. Kingsand, Mayor of the City of New York. This house was pretty well filled last night, and the performance was admirable. "Fazio, or the Italian Wife," could not have been better performed. The principal characters were sustained by artistes who are fast rising to the head of the corps dramatique. Miss Eliza Logan-an American actress of high repute, and deservedly -sustained the character of "Bianca" to the admiration of all who had the pleasure of witnessing the performance. She was repeatedly interrupted by loud applause, which burst from the admiring audience even at a time when silence was most desirable; but their rapture was unbounded, which caused it to burst forth even at an improper time. Indeed, we have never seen an actress whose bearing on the stage pleased us more than did Miss Logan's; and we predict for her an enviable fame. We can scarcely say less of Mr. G. Jordon in his "Geraldi Fazio;" he was in this, as in all other parts he has taken on the boards of the National peculiarly happy. The part of "Aldabello," though a character in which an actress could no well show off, was admirably sustained by Miss Kate Horn. We would not forget the dancing by Miss Walters, nor the admirable "John Duck" as performed by H. C. Jordon. In singling out the above persons, we do not mean to disparage the balance of the company, some of whom sustained their parts well; but those we have selected were admirable. Miss Logan appears to-night as Lucretia Borgia, and the public may expect a rich

WALKER & JONES. Georgetown and Its Affairs.

GEORGETOWN, Feb. 26-12 m. Mr. W. H. Tenney, one of our enterprising merchants, has been engaged for several days past in forming a company to purchase and repair the Union Hotel, which has been for some time a mortification to our whole community by remaining so long in a dilapidated condition. We understand that he has agreed with the heirs of the late Col. Humphries upon a price for the property, and proposes to raise $10,000, in shares of $100 each-one-fifth to be paid down, onefifth for repairs, and the remaining three-fifths in one, two, and three years. Already seventy shares have been taken, and there remain thirty shares yet for sale. There will be a meeting of the stockholders, and others who may wish to take stock, in the Council Chamber, to-morrow night, at half-past seven o'clock. We suggested more than once, through the "Telegraph," last summer and fall, such a move; and have no doubt had it been taken hold of then in the same spirit and by the same individual that now has the matter in hand, it would before this have been bought, repaired, and occupied. If Mr. Tenney succeeds, (and we have no doubt that he will,) he deserves and should receive the lasting gratitude of every citizen of our town. Justice Arnold committed to jail on Tuesday James O'Leary, charged with stealing a quantity of butter from Mr. John Paxton and Mr. W. Wallingsford. The prisoner is quite young, not over fifteen or sixteen years of age. The butter was found in the house of an individual named Robbins, near Bridge-street bridge.

Our market was well supplied this morning with fresh fish, at very high prices.

We hear of no transactions in flour, conse quently we hear no change in prices; dull at $4.50 from stores. Grain is drooping. White wheat, 95c.@$1 for prime; red 88@90c. Corn, white, 60@62c.; yellow 58c.

We daily receive newspapers claiming an exchange in consideration of publishing a Prospectus of this paper. The publication of that Prospectus was countermanded immediately after it was issued; but we have observed its erms with such papers as copied it soon after its appear ance, and before our subsequent notice could be preto be very generally known. Those that took it up at a make known the revocation of our offer, should not com-plain that we do not send them our daily paper. We have, nowever, endeavored to preserve the names of all, and shall before long be able to send them an acceptable weekly.
